The larger part of this issue consists of Gerald E. Bentley, Jr.'s supplement to the Blake Bibliography of 1964. We thought it would be more convenient for readers to have this material collated separately, and so this issue of the Newsletter comes in two parts. We welcome further additions from readers; these will be published in the summer issue.

Our next issue will also include the annual checklist of Blake scholarship. Although we don't expect to find every item published from June '68 to May '69, we would obviously like to make the checklist as comprehensive as we can. Readers can be of great help in this, by reporting articles and reviews which may not have come to our attention.
