ANNOUNCEMENT OF PUBLICATION SERIES

Alaska Pacific University announces a new book series, Alaska Pacific Studies in Interdisciplinarity, under the general editorship of Shirley Paolini. The series focuses on literature and the other arts and will consider monographs and book-length manuscripts that examine the interrelationships between literature and the visual arts, music, or film. Comparative studies emphasizing new methods of treating critical or theoretical problems between disciplines will be given preference. Studies of other disciplines in the humanities engaged in an interdisciplinary dialogue will also be considered. Peter Lang Publishing, Inc., of New York and Bern will publish the series. Please send inquiries, including an abstract and a curriculum vitae, to Shirley Paolini, Editor, Alaska Pacific Studies in Interdisciplinarity, Alaska Pacific University, 4101 University Drive, Anchorage AL 99508.

1986-1987 CLIFFORD PRIZE

The James L. Clifford Prize will award $300 to the best nominated article, an outstanding study of some aspect of eighteenth-century culture, interesting to any eighteenth-century specialist, regardless of discipline. Rules:

- The article should not be longer than 7500 words.
- The article must have appeared in print in a journal, festschrift, or other serial publication between July 1986 and June 1987.
- The article may be nominated by a member of the Society, or by its author.
- Nominations must be accompanied by an offprint or copy of the article, postmarked by 1 February 1988, and sent to the ASECS Office.
- The winning author must be a member of the Society at the time of the award. Send nominations or inquiries to ASECS, R. G. Peterson, Executive Secretary, St. Olaf College, Northfield MN 55057 or call 507/663-3488.

WILLIAM BLAKE AND FELPHAM

Visitors to Felpham and environs will be interested in the brief but attractive booklet by Norah Owens, William Blake and Felpham (1800-1803), in which "when-ever possible, the focus shifts from Blake to his neighborhood, the lively people among whom he lived and moved." It is published by the Bognor Regis Local History Society (Park Lodge, High School, Bognor Regis, West Sussex PO21 1HW) and costs £1.60.
