Blake in the Marketplace, 2014

By Robert N. Essick

Robert N. Essick has been collecting and writing about Blake for over forty-five years.

Table of Contents:

Introductory Essay
Abbreviations

Blake:
- Illuminated Books
- Drawings and Paintings
- Separate Plates and Plates in Series
- Letterpress Books with Engravings by and after Blake
- Including Prints Extracted from Such Books

Interesting Blakeana

Blake’s Circle and Followers:
- Barry, James
- Basire, James
- Calvert, Edward
- Flaxman, John
- Fuseli, Henry
- Linnell, John
- Mortimer, John Hamilton
- Palmer, Samuel
- Parker, James
- Richmond, George
- Romney, George
- Sherman, Welby
- Stothard, Thomas

Appendix: New Information on Blake’s Engravings

1 The 2014 Blake market began slowly. Through April, there were no rumors in the trade of anything substantial coming to market, much less actual sales of Blake’s drawings, paintings, or illuminated books. The calm persisted until 7 May, when I learned from John Windle that Bonhams London auction scheduled for 18 June would in- include posthumous copy i of Songs of Innocence and of Experience (illus. 1–3). Estimated at £50,000–70,000, the forty-four unbound plates were quickly knocked down at the low estimate (£62,500 with the 25% buyer’s premium) to the E. J. Pratt Library, Victoria University, Toronto, now the most active institutional collector of Blake and his circle.

2 The draft of Bonhams catalogue entries sent to Windle included an “unpublished proof,” with a previously unrecorded “Blake” signature, of the title-page vignette for both volumes of John Gabriel Stedman’s Narrative, of a Five Years’ Expedition, against the Revolted Negroes of Surinam, a work for which Blake has long been known to have engraved sixteen full-page plates. This sent me scurrying to copies of the book. With the aid of a magnifying glass, I quickly found that the first published state of the vignette on the engraved title page to vol. 1 of the 1796 edition is clearly signed by Blake. Impressions of the second published state used for the vol. 2 title page also show a ghostly, barely visible signature. This is a remarkable instance of an engraving by Blake hidden in plain sight for over 150 years. The proof was acquired by the Pratt Library for a hammer price of £4500 (£5625 with the buyer’s premium). See illus. 6–10 and their captions for further information on this new attribution.

3 On 9 July Sotheby’s London offered several lots of interest to collectors of Blake and his circle: two drawings by Fuseli, a drawing by Flaxman and two by Romney, two watercolors by Palmer, an oil painting by Calvert, and two watercolors by Blake, Two Studies of a Baby’s Head and Pestilence, Probably the Great Plague of London (illus. 4). The last, Blake’s earliest known version of this subject, had major condition issues. It had failed to sell at auction in 1982, but this time the drawing managed to fetch a hammer price at the low estimate of £20,000 (£25,000 including the buyer’s premium).

4 Sotheran’s, the venerable London book dealer, issued a “William Blake” catalogue in October that includes Blake’s Job and Dante engravings, a selection of his commercial book illustrations, two etchings by Palmer, and a run of William Muir facsimiles of the illuminated books. Like Sotheran’s June 2008 catalogue of the same title, this sale... was organized in partnership with John Windle. Although most of the original materials had been previously offered by Windle, their appearance in this important 2014 catalogue is recorded here.

5 In early November Windle informed me that works by Blake from the collection of Maurice Sendak (1928–2012) would be coming to auction at Christie’s New York on 21 January 2015. Christie’s briefly listed the sale in its online auction calendar, but had taken it down by 19 November, apparently in response to a lawsuit filed by the Rosenbach Museum and Library against Sendak’s estate. His will stipulates that his rare books should be given to the museum, but the executors of the estate define that category in a very narrow way. Disbound works, such as Sendak’s copy H of Songs of Innocence and of Experience, are not “books” in the estate’s opinion. Their even odder argument is that children’s books, presumably including Songs of Innocence copy J, are not “rare books.” On 2 December I learned from Richard Lloyd of Christie’s that the auction had been postponed until the parties to the suit settle or the court renders a decision. At least one work by Blake from Sendak’s collection, a copy of William Hayley’s 1805 Ballads with the plates hand colored, had been given to the Rosenbach before disagreement blossomed into litigation. For Sendak’s Blake holdings, see Blake 46.4 (spring 2013): par. 5, 47.1 (summer 2013): par. 9, and 47.4 (spring 2014): par. 7. Fifty Mickey Mouse items from Sendak’s holdings went to auction on 15 July at Hake’s Americana & Collectibles, Springettsbury Township, Pennsylvania. A “Mickey Mouse rare double slate dancers German crank toy” sold for $20,221.28.

6 I continue to list plates by Blake’s engraving master, James Basire, appearing in two publications, Eighty-Two Prints … from the Original Drawings of Guercino, in the Collection of His Majesty, published by Boydell c. 1764(?), and Charles Rogers’s Collection of Prints in Imitation of Drawings, 1778. All the plates in the former, and most of those in the latter, were executed in Basire’s shop before Blake entered apprenticeship in August 1772, but these reproductions of drawings may have influenced Blake’s development of relief etching. He takes his master’s activities a step further. Relief etching permits the printing of images, drawn or painted directly on copperplates, to create what we might call “printed drawings”—along with the equally oxymoronic “printed manuscripts”—rather than prints “in Imitation of Drawings,” facsimiles, or reproductions. Lithography, invented in 1796 by Alois Senefelder and called “polyautography” when brought to England early in the nineteenth century, offers a similar means of producing multiple copies of autographic compositions executed on the printing matrix.

7 Beginning with the 2013 sales review, I no longer list separate plates and book illustrations for Blake’s circle and followers unless executed by the original artist. Exceptions are made for particularly important or rare works, such as large separate plates designed by Fuseli, discoveries, and plates by artists, such as Basire, of interest principally for their copy engravings. The coverage of Blake and Interesting Blakeana remains unchanged.

8 The year of all sales and catalogues in the following lists is 2014 unless indicated otherwise. Most reports about auction catalogues are based on the online versions. Coverage of regional auctions is selective. Dates for dealers’ online catalogues are the dates accessed, not the dates of publication. Works offered online by dealers and previously listed in any one of the last four sales reviews are not repeated here. Most of the auction houses add their purchaser’s surcharge to the hammer price in their price lists. These net amounts are given here, following the official price lists. The value-added tax levied against the buyer’s surcharge in Britain is not included. Late 2014 sales will be covered in the 2015 review. I am grateful for help in compiling this review to G. E. Bentley, Jr., Nancy Bialler, David Bindman, Mark Crosby, William Dailey, Andrea Everett, Judith Guston, Donald Heald, Scott Krafft, Richard Lloyd, Nick Lott, Morton Paley, Miranda Rhys-Williams, Simon Roberts, Kevin Salatino, Annette Smith, Carmen Socknat, Joseph Viscomi, Patrick Williams, and John Windle. My special thanks go to Jenijoy La Belle, for assistance in all matters, and to Alexander Gourlay for his generosity in keeping me abreast of eBay auctions and for help with Blake’s handwriting. Once again, Sarah Jones’s editorial expertise and John Sullivan’s digital imaging have been invaluable.

Abbreviations

AH  Abbott and Holder, London
BG  Bloomsbury auctions, Godalming
BHL  Bonhams auctions, London
BHNY  Bonhams auctions, New York
BHO  Bonhams auctions, Oxford
BL  Bloomsbury auctions, London
cat(s).  catalogue(s)
CF  Cheffins auctions, Cambridge, England
CL  Christie's auctions, London
CNY  Christie's auctions, New York
CSK  Christie's auctions, South Kensington
DW  Dominic Winter auctions, South Cerney, Gloucestershire
EB  eBay online auctions
GO  Gorringes auctions, Lewes, East Sussex
GP  Grosvenor Prints, London
illus.  illustration(s), illustrated
LL  Lowell Libson, London
PBA  PBA Galleries auctions, San Francisco
pl(s).  plate(s)
SL  Sotheby's auctions, London
SNY  Sotheby's auctions, New York
st(s).  state(s) of an engraving, etching, or lithograph
Swann  Swann auctions, New York
TJ  Tajan auctions, Paris
auction lot or catalogue item number

Illuminated Books

Songs of Innocence and of Experience, posthumous copy i. Forty-four pls. (BB pls. 1–14, 16–29, 33–36, 38–43, 46, 48, 49, 52–54) on 44 unbound leaves, 43 leaves approximately 24.1 x 19.8 cm., 17 leaves showing a J WHATMAN / 1831 watermark, last recorded in the collection of Lord Cunliffe. BHL, 18 June, #73, “plate 23 hand-coloured, plate 48 on a slightly smaller sheet of thinner paper (240 x 185mm.), pencilled numbers at upper right corners, occasional light dust-soiling at edges, a handful of spots, plates 6–7 and 13 with notch at one edge, plates 12–13 with nineteenth century pencil notes in margin, final plate bumped at fore-edge, preserved in red morocco pull-off box.” pls. 1, 3, 23, 42 illus. (£62,500 to the E. J. Pratt Library, Victoria University, Toronto). BB pp. 371, 380 exclude pl. 29, the title page to Experience, and include pl. 30, the “Introduction” to Experience, in the list of pls. in copy i, but BB p. 371 includes pl. 29 in the record of pls. with the watermark. Matthew H:aley of Bonhams has assured John Widdle that pl. 29 is present and pl. 30 is absent. BBS 129 states that copy i is in the Keynes Collection, Fitzwilliam Museum, but this is an error for copy l (lowercase L). Both the auction cat. and BB p. 371 describe the ink color as “grey,” but I suspect that this is black ink thinly applied. See illus. 1–3.

Drawings and Paintings

1. Title page to Songs of Innocence and of Experience, posthumous copy i, BB pl. 1. Relief and white-line etching in black ink, 2nd st., image and platemark 11.5 x 7.1 cm., leaf of wove paper approximately 24.1 x 19.8 cm. Printed c. 1831 or later by Frederick Tatham. E. J. Pratt Library, Victoria University, Toronto; photo courtesy of Bonhams London. For a description of this 2nd (posthumous) st., see Blake 47.4 (spring 2014), caption to illus. 3.
2. Title page to Songs of Innocence in Songs of Innocence and of Experience, posthumous copy I, B8 pl. 3. Relief and white-line etching in black ink, image and platemark 12.0 x 7.4 cm., leaf of wove paper approximately 24.1 x 19.8 cm. Printed c. 1831 or later by Frederick Tatham. Inscribed “3” top right in pencil in an unidentified hand. E. J. Pratt Library, Victoria University, Toronto; photo courtesy of Bonhams London.
3. “Spring,” 2nd pl., in Songs of Innocence and of Experience, posthumous copy i, BB pl. 23. Relief and white-line etching in black ink with hand coloring in watercolors, image and platemark 10.5 x 7.7 cm., leaf of wove paper approximately 24.1 x 19.8 cm. Printed c. 1831 or later by Frederick Tatham. Like pl. 23 in posthumous copy h, the etching border was not inked or was wiped clean of ink. Inscribed “22” top right in pencil in an unidentified hand. E. J. Pratt
The coloring of this impression is better, and more Blake-like, than one usually finds in tinted examples of posthumous copies of the Songs. The hand is distinct from the two coloring styles present in posthumous copy h. The thin, transparent washes in rose, blue, and yellow extending over the text and around the design are particularly unusual, perhaps unique, for a posthumous print and recall the presence of such tinting in lifetime impressions. Might Blake's wife, Catherine, have been the colorist? Joseph Viscomi and I have speculated along those lines, but we have come to no firm conclusions. This leaf would appear to be the same Whatman 1831 paper used for all but pl. 48 in copy i. Mrs. Blake did not die until 18 Oct. 1831 (BR[2] 546), and thus it is possible for her to have worked on paper of that year. As William Michael Rossetti was the 1st to point out, she was probably responsible for much of the coloring in Blake's illus. to John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress of 1824-27 (Gilchrist 2: 235, Butlin #829). There are some similarities between the darker, thicker coloring on those designs and this impression of pl. 23. For example, the mottled green of the grassy ground below the child and sheep is similar to the handling of the same (or very similar) color in the background foliage in Christian Knocks at the Wicket Gate (Butlin #829.10).

4. Pestilence, Probably the Great Plague of London.
Watercolor, 13.9 x 18.7 cm., datable to c. 1779-80. Inscribed in pen and ink "WB," bottom right, and on the door upper left, "Lord have / m  On us" (the 2nd line crudely written). A few pencil lines below this inscription may be fragments of 2 illegible words; below this is a pen and ink squiggle that might be the beginnings of a further inscription or simply a decorative flourish. The coloring has been rubbed off the surface of the work in numerous spots, with a particularly disturbing cluster upper left and a large patch on the prone figure's arm, bottom center. The area just left of the bellman, extending from his face to his left hand, is also abraded. Provenance: as in Butlin #184 to c. 1980; “A. Stein” according to the SL cat. of 9 July, #185; sold to a private collector at the SL auction. Photo courtesy of Sotheby’s London.

This 1st recorded version of Blake’s Pestilence design may have been part of a series of watercolors illustrating English history, including Butlin #51, 52, 53, 57, 60, 62, 64, and 67, all of about the same size. Blake listed the subjects of 7 of these works in his Notebook, among a group of 20 designs based on English history (E 672). In turn, he may have engraved (or intended to engrave) some of these subjects for “The History of England, a small book of Engravings,” known only from its listing in his 1793 advertisement “To the Public” (E 692-93). Blake developed his Pestilence design in a slightly larger watercolor datable to c. 1780-84 (Butlin #185). This second version lacks the inscription on the door upper left but would still seem to take its subject and setting from the great plague of London in 1665. Blake used the couple lower left, a version of the bellman, and the inscription on the door for the full-page design on pl. 10 of Europe a Prophecy, 1794. For discussions of the Pestilence subject in Blake’s works, including later versions, see Shelley M. Bennett, “A Newly Discovered Blake at the Huntington,” Blake 18.3 (winter 1984-85): 132-39; Joseph Viscomi, “A Breach in a City the Morning after the Battle: Lost or Found?” Blake 28.2 (fall 1994): 44-61; and Stephen C. Behrendt, “The Evolution of Blake’s Pestilence”, Prophetic Character: Essays on William Blake in Honor of John E. Grant, ed. Alexander S. Gourlay (West Cornwall, CT: Locust Hill P, 2002) 3-26.

Drawings and Paintings (continued)

Two Studies of a Baby’s Head, Possibly Hannah or Elizabeth Ann Linnell. Pencil and watercolor, 37.0 x 26.0 cm., inscribed “Portrait of some / Infant by William Blake / vouched by Fred. Tatham.” Butlin #788, dating the drawing to “c. 1820 (?)” SL, 9 July, #186, illus. (£11,250; estimate £4000-6000). Previously sold CL, 22 July 1949, #66 (£475.5s. to Mrs. Alastair Winterbottom); offered BHL, 6 Feb. 2007, #91, illus. (withdrawn; estimate £10,000-15,000); sold BHL, 11 March 2008, #27, illus. (£10,800 to the Welsh tenor and conductor Robert Tear). Tear died in 2011; the SL vendor may be an heir. For illus. and comments, see Blake 41.4 (spring 2008): 149.

The Virgin Hushing the Young Baptist, Who Approaches the Sleeping Infant Jesus. Tempera, 27.0 x 38.2 cm., inscribed “WB inv [in monogram] 1799” Butlin #406. LL, Sept. private offer ($2,400,000); Dec., online cat., illus. (not priced). Previously offered by John Windle, Dec. 2002 cat., no entry #, illus. on the cover (not priced, “full details upon request”), Sept. 2003 cat. 36, #1, illus. (“price on application”), and Artemis Fine Arts, Jan. 2003 “Review 2002,” pp. 31-33, no entry #, with an essay on the painting by David Bindman, illus. (not priced). According to Martin Bailey, “From £1,000 to £10 Million in Two Years,” Art Newspaper no. 136 (May 2003): 42, the asking price in 2002 was $3,800,000. For illus., see Blake 37.4 (spring 2004): 119 and the William Blake Archive (Drawings and Paintings, Paintings, Illustrations to the Bible [c. 1799-1803], The Virgin Hushing the Young Baptist).

Wat Tyler. Pencil, 24.2 x 19.2 cm., inscribed “Octr 30. 1819,” probably p. 66 from the larger Blake-Varley Sketchbook. Butlin #737, then in the collection of Edwin Wolf 2nd. Described by Butlin as the original, but the discovery of the larger Blake-Varley Sketchbook revealed the original drawing, p. 65, of which this version is a counterproof. Bauman Rare Books, Nov. Boston Book Fair, marginal stains, framed ($65,000). Previously sold from Wolf’s collection, CL, 13 July 1993, #7, illus. (£4830 to a British dealer, probably acting for Bauman). Previously offered by Bauman, April 1994 “Blake” cat., unnumbered item on inside back cover ($38,000).

Separate Plates and Plates in Series

“Chaucer’s Canterbury Pilgrims.” Sotheran’s, April “Spring Miscellany” cat., #27, 5th st., 1st Colnaghi printing on thin laid “Japan” paper, the same impression offered by John Windle, March 2013 online cat., for $20,000, illus. (£15,000); Oct. “William Blake” cat. #92, SP impression 5ZZ, a Colnaghi printing on laid India, illus. (£9000); #93, another Colnaghi impression on laid India, “lightly cleaned and mounted,” illus. (£8500). Larkhall Fine Art, May private offer, 3rd st., wove leaf trimmed on or just within the platemark. 10 cm. tear in left margin, apparently not the impression (SP 3W) available from Larkhall in 2007 for £17,500 (£22,000).

Dante engravings. Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #40-43, pls. 4, 5, 6, and 2 offered individually, probably the 1892 printing, pl. 2 foxed, all illus. (£9555, £6695, £4975, and £6505 respectively).

“George Cumberland’s Card.” Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #52, black ink printed “on thick card,” illus. (£12,750). For information on this impression, see the 2013 sales review in Blake 47.4 (spring 2014).

Job engravings. Mallams auction, Oxford, 12 March, #49, pl. numbered 15 only, 1874 printing on laid India, illus. (£360). 19th Century Shop, March online cat., complete set, 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India, scattered light foxing, printed label laid in loose, unbound but with “the original annotated paper wrapper noting the … Linnell family sale, Christie’s, 15 March 1918,” illus. (£135,000—a record asking price). Rulon-Miller, May online cat., complete set, 1826 printing on Whatman paper after removal of the “Proof” inscription but with slight indications of the word on a few pls., 19th-century half morocco a little worn (£35,000). BHL, 18 June, #72, complete set, 1826 printing on Whatman paper after removal of the “Proof” inscription, from the collection of “Henry Cunliffe (1826-1894) …; thence by descent,” late 19th-century morocco, illus. (£27,500 to John Windle for stock); same copy, Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #51, illus. (£57,000; sold to Duke University). CL, 16 July, #333, complete set, 1826 “Proof” printing on so-called “French” wove paper, “marginal spotting throughout, … original green cloth-backed drab card wrappers, printed paper label on the upper cover,” illus. (£17,500); same copy, Sims Reed, Oct. cat., #21, illus. (£57,500). EB, Sept., complete set, 1874 printing on laid India, foxed, India paper yellowed, later half morocco by Sangorski & Sutcliffe, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £15,000 or “best offer”); same copy, Certain Books, Oct. online cat., illus. (£15,000). Swann, 23 Sept., #1, pl. numbered 10 only, 1874 printing on laid India, illus. (£3000); 29 Oct., #241, pl. numbered 16 only, 1874 printing on laid India, illus. (£2750), #242, pl. numbered 7 only, 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India, illus. (£1750), #243, pl. numbered 8 only, 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India, illus. (£1950). Duke’s auction, Dorchester, 25 Sept., #16, pl. numbered 5 only, 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India, illus. (£600). Cot-tone auction, Geneseo, New York, 27 Sept., #647, pl. numbered 9 only, probably 1826 printing on Whatman paper, illus. (£1600). Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #32-39, pls. numbered 8, 13, 10, 17, 12, 5, 15, and 7 offered individually, 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India, all illus. (ranging between £2105 and £3025); #44-47, pls. numbered 8, 6, 7, and the title page offered individually, 1874 printing on laid India, all illus. (£1385, £1345, £1155, and £1345 respectively). Sophie Schneideman Rare Books, Nov. online “William Blake & His Followers” cat., no entry #, complete set, 1826 “Proof” printing on so-called “French” wove paper, some foxing, “in book mounts[?] and housed in a … clamshell box,” illus. (£65,000). CL, 3 Dec., #117, complete set, 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India, “probably the full sheets, some pale foxing in the margins,” unbound in a modern cloth portfolio, illus. (£62,500). SL, 9 Dec., #55, complete set, 1826 “Proof” printing on so-called “French” wove paper, from the collection of “General Archibald Stirling of Keir,” late 19th-century morocco by Zaehnsdorf, worn, illus. (£37,500). BHL, 9 Dec., 1826 “Proof” printing on laid India in the following lots, each illus. and estimated at £2500-3500: #14, title page and pl. numbered 2 (£2875), #15, pls. numbered 4 and 12 (£3125), #16, pls. numbered 7 and 8 (not sold), #17, pls. numbered 9 and 17 (not sold), #18, pls. numbered 18 and 19 (not sold).

“Morning Amusement” and “Evening Amusement,” the pair after Watteau. Bamfords auction, Rowsley, Derbyshire, 16 April, #1121, black ink, “24.5cm x 29cm,” no description of condition, illus. (£200; estimate £40-60). Both the illus. and the measurements indicate that the pls. are trimmed slightly into the designs, particularly right and left. It is not possible to determine the sts. of these pls. when the inscriptions are trimmed off.

Letterpress Books with Engravings by and after Blake, Including Prints Extracted from Such Books

Blair, The Grave, 1808 folio. Sims Reed, April New York Book Fair, 2 pls. supplied from the 1808 quarto and thus in their 2nd published sts., elaborate Victorian calf binding (£30,000—a record asking price). See also L. Schiavonetti, portrait of Blake published as the frontispiece to Blair’s Grave, 1808, under Interesting Blakeana.

Blair, The Grave, [1870] portfolio of pls. only. EB, Nov., stains at edges of the leaves, publisher’s portfolio (no bids on a required minimum bid of £795); same copy, Dec., same result. DW, 12 Nov., #551, marginal stains, publisher’s portfolio worn (not sold; estimate £150-250).

Cumberland, Thoughts on Outline, 1796. Jarndyce, March online cat., unbound text gatherings and 23 (of 24) unbound pls., lacking Blake’s pl. 6, “one of the 94 copies which remained unbound and probably unsold (most likely it was given away) following complications with the booksellers” (£690). The statement about unbound copies is based on the “94” remainder copies in Sheets sent to the bookseller Longman between Jan. 1804 and June 1807 (BB p. 543).

Earle, Practical Observations on the Operation for the Stone, 1803 reissue of the 2nd ed. William Dailey Books, Feb. Pasadena International Book Fair, with the appendix 1st published in 1796, lacking the title page to the appendix (as issued?), 2nd st. of the pl. in the appendix (CB pl. 3), 20th-century cloth ($1500 to Essick). The only copy of the 1803 issue I've ever seen on the market. See my appendix, below, and illus. 5.

Flaxman, Hesiod designs, 1817. BG, 23 Jan., #132, 2 copies, “occasional spotting,” original boards with label, worn, with Flaxman's Iliad designs, 1805, 34 (of 39) pls. only, foxed and damp stained, many pls. “loose,” the same 3 vols. unsold at BG, 14 Nov. 2013, #51 (£20). EB, Jan., bound with the Iliad, 1805, Odyssey, 1805, and Aeschylus, 1831, designs, some

5. Unsigned folding pl. in James Earle, An Appendix to a Treatise on the Operation for the Stone (London: J. Johnson, 1796). This impression from the Appendix included with the 1803 reissue of Earle's Treatise, Essick collection. Etching/engraving, 2nd st. of 2, platemark 16.1 x 29.9 cm., leaf of wove paper without watermark 21.3 x 32.8 cm. The inscription top left, present in both sts. of the pl., is by an anonymous writing engraver; the inscriptions bottom center and lower right, added in this 2nd st., are in Blake's hand. The letter forms, particularly the “g,” are characteristic of his engraved lettering—compare his inscriptions in George Cumberland, Thoughts on Outline, 1796. The barely visible blurred form top center is a weak impression of the collection stamp of the Birmingham Medical Institute, a former owner of the volume. I am grateful to Alexander Gourlay for his assistance in attributing the 2nd st. inscriptions to Blake. For another copy of the Appendix and comments on this pl., see “Blake in the Marketplace, 2013,” Blake 47.4 (spring 2014).
pl. loose, 19th-century morocco, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of $2000); same copy, Jan.-Feb., illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of $1800); same copy, Feb., illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of $800); same copy, Feb., illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of $500). Peter Keisogloff, March online cat., bound with the Iliad, 1805, Odyssey, 1805, and Aeschylus, 1831, designs, 19th-century morocco by J. Wright, binding illus. ($2500); the same or a very similar copy also bound by J. Wright, DW, 9 April, #362 (not sold; estimate £250-350); same copy, DW, 14 May, #427 (£140). PBA, 5 June, #381, with the Iliad, 1805, and Odyssey, 1805, designs, many pls. badly stained and foxed, 3 vols. in publisher’s boards with title labels, illus. (not sold; estimate $700-1000). Pls. offered individually are not listed. For the misattribution of the Hesiod pls. to “Blake (John),” see Le Blanc, 1854-90, under Interesting Blakeana.

Flaxman, Iliad designs. EB, Dec. 2013, 1805 ed., scattered light foxing and a few stains, contemporary half calf very worn, illus. (£102). John Windle, March online cat., 1870 ed., most pls. loose, publisher’s printed boards with stains ($175). Pls. offered individually are not listed. See also Hesiod designs, above.

Hartley, Observations on Man, quarto issue, 1791. BL, 19 May, #91, Blake’s pl. spotted, modern half calf over very worn contemporary boards, illus. (£806).

Hayley, Ballads, 1805. TJ, 11 June, #151, contemporary calf, illus. (£1243). Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #70, 1st sts. of the pls., original boards rebacked, earlier (original?) spine label preserved, illus. (£6595). Skinner auction, Boston, 16 Nov., #145, sts. of pls. not recorded, contemporary calf very worn, with Lavater, Aphorisms, 1789, contemporary calf rebacked, and Hayley, Triumphs of Temper, 1803, contemporary boards rebacked, bindings illus. (£1476).

Hogarth, Works. Barnes auction, London, 8 Feb., #95, Blake’s pl. only, probably 2nd published st. from the 1790 ed., light stains in the lower margin, framed, illus. (£100). Emanuel von Baeyer, March cat., #31, Blake’s pl. only, 1st proof st. with the scratched imprint present, leaf 45.7 x 58.6 cm., illus. (price on request). John Windle was informed by Baeyer on 5 May that the price was £18,500—a record asking price for any commercial copy engraving by Blake and possibly a record for a copy engraving by a British artist. Acquired May by Windle for the E. J. Pratt Library, Victoria University, Toronto. EB, May-June, Blake's pl. only, probably 5th published st., lower margin partly torn off but with the imprint intact, illus. (£51). SL, 15 July, #518, The Original and Genuine Works of William Hogarth, usually dated to c. 1795 but this copy on paper with an 1809 watermark, 108 pls. on 89 leaves, presumably including the 3rd published st. of Blake's pl., creases and stains, contemporary half calf very worn, illus. (£3000). Swann, 4 Dec., #220, undated Baldwin and Cradock issue, lacking text pages 23-24, 97 pls., tears and foxing, half morocco worn, illus. (£2080).

Josephus, Works, c. 1787-88. EB, Oct., issue between BB issues A and B (apparently issue "Ab" in BBS 228), Blake's pls. 2 and 3 illus. and his pl. 1 presumably present (2nd sts.), marginal tears, contemporary calf very worn, covers detached (£134.50); Dec., BB issue C, scattered foxing and stains, contemporary morocco worn, illus. (offered at the "buy it now" price of £475).

Lavater, Essays on Physiognomy. EB, Feb., vol. 1 only, 1789, with all 4 Blake pls., scattered foxing, contemporary calf very worn, illus. (£227.87); May-June, a mixed set, vols. 1-2 dated "1792" (actually c. 1818), vol. 3 dated 1798, 3 vols. in 5, scattered foxing, contemporary morocco worn and repaired, illus. (£2245); Sept., pl. 3 only, full leaf with letterpress text, illus. (£29.99). BHNY, 22 Oct., 1789-98 ed., 3 vols. in 5, contemporary half morocco worn, illus. (not sold; estimate £1000-1500). Heritage Book Shop, Nov. online cat., 1789-98 ed., 3 vols. in 5, contemporary calf rebacked (£2750).

Rees, Cyclopædia, 1820. EB, Oct.-Nov., Blake’s pl. 4 only, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £2).

Shakespeare, Plays, 1805. EB, Dec. 2013, Blake's pl. 1 only, illus. with a video and surprisingly insightful spoken commentary (£25.99); March, 9 vol. issue lacking vol. 1 but with Blake's 2 pls. in vols. 6 and 9, contemporary calf worn, illus. (£92). Thornton's Bookshop, March online cat., vols. 1-8 only of the 9 vol. issue and thus lacking Blake's pl. 2, contemporary calf very worn (£300). Auction Gallery of the Palm Beaches, Florida, 1 April, #490, 10 vol. issue, foxed, contemporary morocco worn, bindings illus. (£650).

NARRATIVE,
of a five years' expedition, against the Revolted Negroes of Surinam, in GULANA, on the WILD COAST of
SOUTH AMERICA;
from the year 1772, to 1777;
elucidating the History of that Country, and describing its Productions, Viz.
Quadrupedes, Birds, Fishes, Reptiles, Trees, Shrubs, Fruits, & Roots; with an account of the INDIANS of Guiana, & NEGROES of Guinea.

By CAPT. J. G. STEDMAN.
illustrated with 80 elegant Engravings from drawings made by the Author.

Vol. I.

"O quantum terre, quantum cognoscere celi
Permisium est petasus quantus operam in uias!
Nunc, forsan, grave reris opus, sed lata recurret
Cum ratis, et carum carum, jam mibi reddet Iulian:
Quis pudor hau/d nostras tibi tene autre labores!
Quam referam visas tua per suspicia gentes."

Valerius Flaccus.

London. Printed for J. Johnson, St Paul's Church Yard, & J. Edwards, Pall Mall. 1796.
6. (previous spread, left) Etched and engraved title-page vignette for John Gabriel Stedman, Narrative, of a Five Years' Expedition, against the Revolted Negroes of Surinam, 1796. Pre-publication proof impression, signed in scratched drypoint letters lower left, just above the cannon barrel, “Blake” (as the engraver); inscribed “cuncta mea mecum” on the flag draped over the top of the oval vignette. Design 5.6 x 7.5 cm. on leaf of wove paper trimmed within the platemark to 25.0 x 19.0 cm. The copperplate, at 26.9 x 19.9 cm., had to be large enough to contain the text of the title page, subsequently executed by a writing engraver (see illus. 7). Inscribed in pencil lower right, “Blake,” in an unidentified hand. E. J. Pratt Library, Victoria University, Toronto, call no. Blake Suppl. no. 566; photo courtesy of the Pratt Library.

The newly discovered signature makes it certain that Blake engraved this vignette. His signature appears on 13 other pls. in Stedman’s book; 3 unsigned pls. have also been attributed to Blake’s hand (see BB #499 and CB 71-75). For records concerning Blake’s contacts with Stedman, see BR(2) 61-62, 66-70. Blake’s involvement with Stedman and his publication makes it highly unlikely that some other engraver named “Blake” executed this vignette.

The Latin inscription (the Stedman family motto, “my all is with me”) was executed in drypoint by Blake, not by a writing engraver. Like the other pls. in the book, this vignette was probably based on a drawing by Stedman. In comparison to the 1st published st. (illus. 7-9), this proof lacks the large flags attached to poles or aft masts on the sterns of the ships 1st and 4th from the left. Oddly, in the published st. the anchor lower right and the cannon barrel lower left have been recut to eliminate the crosshatching appearing in this proof. A small patch of crosshatching has also been deleted from the right extension of the flag dangling lower left.

7. (previous spread, right) Etched and engraved title page for John Gabriel Stedman, Narrative, of a Five Years’ Expedition, against the Revolted Negroes of Surinam, small-paper copy, vol. 1, 1796. First published st., image (including all lettering) 24.1 x 17.5 cm., platemark 26.9 x 19.9 cm., leaf of wove paper 28.0 x 22.1 cm. Essick collection. The lettering (except for the inscriptions within the vignette) is by an unidentified writing engraver, but the oval vignette can now be attributed to Blake (see the caption to illus. 6). See also illus. 8 (vignette, 1st published st.), 9 (detail of signature), and 10 (vignette, 2nd published st.).
8. Title-page vignette for Stedman’s Narrative, small-paper copy, vol. 1, 1796. Etching/engraving, 1st published st., image 5.6 x 7.5 cm. Essick collection. Signed in scratched drypoint letters lower left, just above the cannon barrel, “Blake”; see also illus. 6. The clouds above the ships were etched very lightly and are poorly printed in this impression. G. E. Bentley, Jr., has kindly pointed out to me that the flags on the sterns of 2 ships, added in this 1st published st., are those of Holland, the horizontal stripes properly tinted red, white, and blue (top to bottom) in hand-colored copies of Stedman’s book. The large Dutch flag upper left is also appropriately tinted in colored copies. See also illus. 7 (complete title page, vol. 1), 9 (detail of signature), and 10 (vignette, 2nd published st.).

9. Detail showing the drypoint “Blake” signature lower left on the title-page vignette for Stedman’s Narrative, small-paper copy, vol. 1, 1796. Etching/engraving, 1st published st. Area shown approximately 5 x 7 mm. Essick collection. In comparison to the proof (illus. 6), the signature is worn but still visible under magnification. This image has been cleaned in Photoshop to eliminate patches of foul inking around the signature. See also illus. 7 (complete title page, vol. 1), 8 (vignette, 1st published st.), and 10 (vignette, 2nd published st.).
10. Title-page vignette for Stedman’s Narrative, small-paper copy, vol. 2, 1796. Etching/engraving, 2nd published st., image 5.6 x 7.5 cm. Essick collection. In this 2nd st., the rope dangling on the right has been extended upward beyond the lower tip of the flag to touch the outer frame of the vignette. A few crossing strokes have been added to the rope on the left where it hangs above the cannon. The clouds above the ships have been recut in a very different pattern. Diagonal hatching, apparently representing a cloud, has been cut into the space between the frame of the vignette and the flag upper left, just above and to the left of “mea” in the inscription. Many lines have been cut more deeply in the ocean, the ring fastening upper left, the lower tip of the anchor, and the Latin inscription. Blake’s signature, lower left, shows considerable wear, but fragments are still visible under magnification.

Identical letter forms, sizes, and positions indicate that the same copperplate was used for both title pages. The hand-colored, large-paper copy of the 1796 ed. in the Huntington Library has the same combination of st.—vol. 1, 1st st., vol. 2, 2nd st.—found in all small-paper copies examined. In a hand-colored, large-paper copy in my collection, the title page to vol. 1 has the vignette in its 2nd st. Apparently the vignette was revised prior to the change in vol. number and at least this 1 impression pulled. It would not be surprising, however, to find this st. of the vol. 1 title in other copies, large and small paper. Next, a 2nd “I” was squeezed into the space between the first “I” in the vol. number and the following ruled line to create the title page for vol. 2 present in both large- and small-paper copies. This procedure is more efficient and cost effective than creating two distinct copperplates with only minor differences between them. The publishers of the 1796 ed. were probably not sufficiently prescient to know that there would be 2 further printings of the book and thus they anticipated only 1 required alteration in the title-page pl., from vol. 1 to vol. 2. For the 1806 ed., the date was changed, “J. Edwards” was replaced with “Th. Payne” as one of the publishers named in the imprint, and “Second Edition corrected.” was added below the volume designation. Impressions for the 1806 vol. 2 may have been pulled 1st, since the pl. presumably bore the “Vol. II” inscription remaining from the 1796 printing, and then the 2nd “I” in the volume number was deleted before printing the title page for vol. 1. The vignette is still in its 2nd st., but the clouds above the ships are worn and Blake’s lightly scratched signature has completely worn away. The reverse procedure probably occurred for the production of the 1813 title pages, with the pl. for vol. 1, only the date having been changed, printed first and then converted to its vol. 2 st. Technically, these are all different sts. of the copperplate on which Blake etched and engraved his vignette, but only the early, 2-step change in the vignette itself—from the proof to the 1st published st., and from the 1st published st. to the 2nd—involved his work. See also illus. 6 (proof of the vignette), 7 (complete title page, vol. 1), 8 (vignette, 1st published st.), and 9 (detail of signature).

Letterpress Books (continued)

Virgil, Pastorals, 1821. Sophie Schneideman Rare Books, online cat. for the July Melbourne Book Fair, no entry #. 2 vols., “original contemporary sheep, skilfully [sic] rebacked, Great copy,” illus. (£24,000); same copy, Nov. online “William Blake & His Followers” cat., no entry #, illus. (£25,000).

Wollstonecraft, Original Stories, 1791. Fine Editions, Aug. online cat., modern vellum, pls. 2 and 5 in their 2nd sts., sts. of other pls. not indicated but probably 2nd, illus. ($4865).

Young, Night Thoughts, 1797. Sophie Schneideman Rare Books, online cat. for the July Melbourne Book Fair, no entry #, no mention of the “Explanation” leaf, “generously-margined copy in 20th century brown half morocco by Riviere” (£12,500); same copy and price, Nov. online “William Blake & His Followers” cat., no entry #, illus. Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #5-25, a selection of 21 pls. offered individually, illus. (ranging between £385 and £965 each); #64, modern morocco, no mention of the “Explanation” leaf, with the bookplate of “Bernard, Lord Coleridge,” illus. (£11,150; sold to Duke University).

There has been some uncertainty about which matrix was printed first in this ed., the letterpress texts or the engravings. Moss states that the “engravings were printed off first”; Easson and Essick claim that the letterpress came first. Although it makes no mention of Blake or Young, Gaskell’s 2004 essay on the coordination between letterpress and copperplate printing offers important information on standard 17th- and 18th-century practices. He states unequivocally that, “whatever method was used to register the engravings in the text, the key bibliographical point is that the letterpress was printed first, and printed sheets with blank spaces would be delivered to the rolling press printer.” Gaskell’s discussion pertains to the printing of vignettes, headpieces, and other relatively small pls., not to the format of the 1797 Night Thoughts with the engravings surrounding the letterpress texts, but it seems likely that the customary sequence would nonetheless have been followed for this ed. Plate printers, according to Gaskell 230-31, habitually placed the leaf or leaves bearing letterpress face up on the bed of the rolling press to facilitate registration of engraved pls. face down on top of the paper. This procedure would not help to align Blake’s Night Thoughts pls. since they are about the same size as the leaves to be printed and thus the text would not be visible in the final stages of bringing copper and paper together. A plate printer’s normal method, with the pl. face up on the bed of the press and the paper placed over it, was probably followed for Night Thoughts. Given these unusual circumstances, it is not surprising that a line of the text sometimes appears above or below the outlined box meant to contain it.

8. Roger Gaskell, “Printing House and Engraving Shop,” Book Collector 53.2 (summer 2004): 231 (complete essay 213-51). Gaskell supports his conclusion with a reference to Martin Dominique Fertel, La science pratique de l’imprimerie (Saint-Omer: Fertel, 1723). The relevant passage, not quoted by Gaskell, is probably the following: “Quand on veut mettre quelques Vignettes, Fleurons, ou Armoiries en taille douce dans l’impression d’un Livre, on doit observer de prendre leur juste grandeur, pour ne pas laisser moins de blanc, aux endroits où elles doivent être placées, qu’elles en contiendraient, afin que le Taillecoucer puisse imprimer ces Planches avec plus de facilité” (54-55). Rough literal translation: “When one wishes to place some vignettes, rosettes, or escutcheons on an impression of a book, one must keep their proper size by not leaving less blank space [than necessary] where they must be placed, which will contain them, so that the engraver [plate printer] is able to print those plates with the most facility.”

Interesting Blakeana

_Horse Puzzle Sketch_ attributed to Blake. Pen and ink, leaf 16.8 x 18.8 cm., inscribed “WB.” EB, April, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £70,000 or “best offer”); relisted in the same month, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £10,000); twice in Aug., illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £1000); twice in Sept. and once in Oct., illus. (same minimum and result); Oct., illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £499.99). Not by Blake, but the vendor deserves credit for persistence.

W. Cowper, _The Negro’s Complaint_. Broadside, no place or publisher, c. 1788. Blackwell’s, Sept. cat. B180, #9, approximately 37.5 x 9.5 cm., “woodcut” headpiece of “am I not a Man and a Brother,” … laid down on a card, … a little browned,” 1 of several broadside versions, illus. (£4000). The success of Cowper’s poem, commissioned in 1788 by the Committee for the Abolition of the Slave Trade, may have influenced William Hayley’s decision to have Blake etch the broadside of _Little Tom the Sailor_ in 1800.

W. Blake, _Europe_, title page, 1794. A cartoonish watercolor copy of a touched proof now in the Morgan Library and Museum (Butlin #274A). Laid paper, leaf approximately 9.0 x 6.0 cm. EB, Dec. 2013, stains and surface dirt, illus. ($135). The design is Blake’s, but the style reminds me of Robert Crumb.

John Payne, _Universal Geography Formed into a New and Entire System_, vol. 1, printed by Zachariah Jackson, Dublin, 1794. EB, Aug., 1 pl. only, a re-engraving, with right and left reversed, of Blake’s pl. 2 in Fenning and Collyer, _A New System of Geography_, 1785-86, inscribed “P. Maguire sculp.” lower left and “Engraved for Jackson’s Editions of Payne’s new System of Universal Geography” bottom center, design 20.3 x 16.9 cm., platemark 23.2 x 19.2 cm., leaf of wove paper 26.5 x 20.3 cm., stained, illus. ($20 Australian to Essick). The Irish engraver Patrick Maguire was active in Dublin c. 1790-1820. He also re-engraved Blake’s frontispiece pl. for Lavater’s _Aphorisms on Man_ for the Dublin 1790 ed. For a previously unrecorded 3rd st. of Blake’s Fenning and Collyer pl. 2, published in Payne’s _Universal Geography_, London, 1791, see the 1st entry under _William Blake’s Commercial Book Illustrations_ in the appendix. See also Cook, _A Voyage to the Pacific Ocean_, under Bäsire, James, below.

W. Owen, _The Cambrian Biography: or Historical Notices of Celebrated Men among the Ancient Britons_, 1803. Madoc Books, Sept. online cat., contemporary calf worn, illus. (£200). Three Geese in Flight _Celtic Books_, Sept. online cat., “hardcover” ($284.63). Castle Hill Books, Sept. online cat., later cloth worn (£120). William Owen (or William Owen Pugh) commissioned Blake’s untraced painting _The Ancient Britons_ (Butlin #657; see BR[2] 308 for the commission). This book may have influenced Blake’s comments on the painting in his 1809 _Descriptive Catalogue_. Owen states that “Arthur is the Great Bear, as the epithet literally implies: and perhaps, this constellation, being so near the pole, and visibly describing a circle in a small space, is the origin of the famous round table” (15). In a similar vein, but also mistaking a star for a constellation, Blake writes that “Arthur was a name for the constellation Arcturus, or Boote, the Keeper of the North Pole” (_Descriptive Catalogue_, E 542). The constellation Boötes (sometimes confused with Ursa Major—Owen’s “Great Bear”) includes the star Arcturus, its name derived from a Greek word meaning guard of the bear.

L. Schiavonetti after T. Phillips, engraved portrait of Blake published in Robert Blair, _The Grave_, 1808. A pre-publication proof lacking all letters and before considerable finishing work in the design, India paper laid on heavy wove without watermark, leaf trimmed inside the platemark to 33.6 x 24.3 cm. John Windle, July private offer (acquired by Essick). Formerly bound with a set of Blake’s Job engravings sold BHL, 18 June, #72, from the collection of “Henry Cunliffe (1826-1894) …; thence by descent,” illus. (see Job under Separate Plates and Plates in Series, above). The Blake portrait is in the same early st. as the proof, on heavy laid paper, in the Keynes Collection, Fitzwilliam Museum, reproduced in Geoffrey Keynes, _The Complete Portraiture of William and Catherine Blake_ (London: Trianon Press for the William Blake Trust, 1977), pl. 8a. These 2 proofs may be those sold CL, 22-23 July 1814, “works of those very distinguished engravers, Messrs. Louis and Nicholas Schiavonetti,” #250, “two ditto [a reference to #249, “portrait of Blake”] unfinished.” The impression in my collection may be the “unfinished proof” before all letters on “india paper” sold from the collection of James Anderson Rose, SL, 27 June 1876 and 10 following days, #1810 on the 10th day, with a finished impression on laid India (£1.1s.).

The flat appearance of this impression, with no sense of relief to the printed lines when touched, suggests that it was subject to heavy pressure, possibly after having been cleaned by soaking in water, or that it is a true-size lith-Gographic reproduction. I think it unlikely that someone would make such a convincing lithographic facsimile of this proof, one that captures even the smallest scratches visible in impressions on laid India published in the 1808 folio issue of The Grave. Like the Keynes proof, however, this print does not contain some pitting of the copperplate, right of Blake's upper left arm, that apparently occurred between the proof and published st. The preponderance of the visual evidence, combined with the record of sales of unfinished proofs noted above, indicates that this is an impression from Schiavonetti's copperplate.

Windle also removed the following materials, now in my collection, from the Cunliffe set of Job engravings: an advertisement for Gilchrist's Life of Blake from the Quarterly Literary Advertiser, Jan. 1865; clipping of a brief announcement (from the same journal?) of the 2nd ed. of Gilchrist's biography, 1880; 3-pp. manuscript (by Cunliffe?) about Blake's life and Gilchrist's biography; 2 wood-engraved portraits of John Linnell and an obituary of Linnell from the Athenæum no. 2831 (28 Jan. 1882).

Cameos from the Antique; or, the Cabinet of Mythology ... Intended as a Sequel to the Poetical Primer by Mrs. [Rose] Lawrence. Liverpool: Evans, Chegwinn and Hall; London: Longman, Rees and Co., 1831. Malcolm Books, July online cat., publisher's quarter calf detached, spine missing and replaced with plastic tape, "contents otherwise fair" (£52 to Essick). Includes Blake's "To the Muses" from Poetical Sketches, retitled "The Poet Complains to the Muses of the Decline of Poetry," pp. 75-76. "Blake" is given as the author on p. xii of the table of contents. Not in BB or BBS; the "Second Edition, Revised" of 1849 is recorded in G. E. Bentley, Jr., "William Blake and His Circle: A Checklist of Publications and Discoveries in 2009," Blake 44.1 (summer 2010): 12. Lawrence's Poetical Primer; Consisting of Short Extracts from Ancient and Modern Authors was 1st published in 1808. The 1849 ed. of Cameos appears to have been printed as a supplement to the 5th ed. of Poetical Primer, also 1849. The British Library online cat. includes an 1834 issue of Cameos and WorldCat lists an 1842 issue, but I have not seen these.

How did Lawrence, or anyone else involved in the production of Cameos, come upon a copy of "To the Muses" no later than 1831? Perhaps Lawrence knew Henry Crabb Robinson or his 1811 essay on Blake published in Vaterländisches Museum in which "To the Muses" is reprinted (BB #2538; see also BR[2] 585). In the 5th line of the poem, Blake's "Heav'n" (E 417) is replaced by "heaven" in both Cameos and Robinson's essay. Blake's "chystal," line 9, is printed as "christal" by Robinson and "crystal" by Lawrence. The reprints substitute a comma and a period, respectively, for Blake's exclamation marks as the terminal punctuation in the final 2 lines. Lawrence adds 2 unique variants, "bottom" for "bosom" (line 10) and "poesie" for "Poetry" (line 12). Based on these rather random variants, it is difficult to conclude that Lawrence's version was based on the text in Vaterländisches Museum. G. E. Bentley, Jr., has pointed out to me that both Poetical Sketches and Cameos indent every other line of "To the Muses," beginning with the 2nd, whereas Robinson does not. This is the best evidence that Lawrence had access to Blake's book, possibly one of Crabb Robinson's copies (see copies A and O, BB pp. 347, 351). There are no references to "Mrs. Lawrence" or "Rose Lawrence" in Robinson's published diaries and correspondence, but he does refer to "Miss Lawrence" in 1821 and 1839; see Henry Crabb Robinson on Books and Their Writers, ed. Edith J. Morley, 3 vols. (London: Dent, 1938) 1: 265, 2: 572. Lawrence reprinted Blake's "The Tiger [sic]," stripped of its final stanza and with several odd changes in wording (for example, "favour" for "fire," line 6), in another edited collection, Pictures, Scriptural and Historical, or, the Cabinet of History, 1831.

Job's Sacrifice, watercolor copy of Blake's design, 1840s? See under Linnell, John, below.

con (1835) 1: 522, “Blake, John, Bruder Williams.” The misattribution of the Hesiod pls. to John is probably based on mistaken announcements that Flaxman’s designs were to be engraved by “J. Blake”—see the New Monthly Magazine 2 (1 Jan. 1815): 537 and 7 (1 April 1817): 246, the Edinburgh Review 28 (March 1817): 261 (latter 2 listed in BB p. 560), and the Feb. 1817 prospectus, New Works Preparing for Publication, by Longman, Rees, Orme, and Brown, p. 2. The “J. Blake” error is repeated, without his identification as William’s brother, in Friedrich Adolf Ebert, Allgemeines bibliographischesLexikon (1821) 1: 605, and Ebert, A General Bibliographical Dictionary (1837) 1: 579 (BB #535A-B), entries on “Flaxman, J.”

Le Blanc, 1: 354, misattributes Blake’s portrait engraving of David Hartley, published in Hartley’s Observations on Man (1791), to “Blake (C. J.) Grav[eur]., Amateur.” The entry on this “Blake” notes that it is based on “Heineken, III, 2”—see BB #1823, [Karl Heinrich von Heinecken], Dictionnaire des artistes, dont nous avons des estampes, 4 vols. (Leipzig: Jean Gottlob Immanuel Breitkopf, 1778-90). Vol. 3 of Heinecken, published in 1789, does not of course make any mention of the portrait of Hartley, but it includes the following entry: “C. J. Blake. Dame de distinction, qui a gravé en 1775 Le Portrait de son oncle, Sir Francis Blake Delaval” (p. 2). I have not found any later ed. of Heinecken; perhaps Le Blanc, who also lists the portrait of “Laval (Sir Francis de)” in the entry on C. J. Blake, is the origin of this erroneous attribution of the Hartley portrait.

A. Gilchrist, Life of Blake, 1863, extra-illus. copies only, Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #87, 2 vols., with an additional 34 pls. by or after Blake, 19th-century calf re-backed, illus. (£2235). For a list of the added pls., see the 2012 sales review, Blake 46.4 (spring 2013). The 2012 review is wrong in stating that all 13 pls. from Mora’s Meditaciones Poeticas are present; the title page is not included.

[John Keble], The Christian Year. Boston: Lee and Shepard; New York: Lee, Shepard, and Dillingham, 1875. EB, Aug., 2 pls. damp stained, publisher’s cloth, illus. (acquired by Essick at the “buy it now” price of $29.95). Includes an unsigned wood engraving, 14.0 x 8.5 cm., of Blake’s “Death’s Door,” 1st engraved by Schiavonetti and published in Blair’s Grave, 1808. Facing p. 353 and captioned “Burial of the Dead”; no mention of Blake. This illus. may appear in other eds. of this immensely popular work, 1st published without illus. in 1827. “Death’s Door” remained Blake’s best-known pictorial image until the mid-20th century, when “The Ancient of Days” (the frontispiece to Europe) captured the top spot. See also the essay by Kitton, 1891, below.

W. Muir facsimiles of Blake’s illuminated books, 1885-86. Bauman Rare Books, Aug. online cat., Songs of Innocence, 1885, “copy numbered ‘0’ and one of only five reserved for review,” inscribed “to the Academy with compliments of the Editor,” with a letter by Muir “describing his labor of love in producing this facsimile,” the copy offered privately by Carpe Diem Books, April 2013, for $8500, original wrappers, later slipcase, illus. (§12,000). Sotheran’s, Oct. “William Blake” cat., #55, The Book of Thel, 1885, copy number 21, original wrappers, cloth slipcase, illus. (§2895); #56, Songs of Experience, 1885, copy number 32, original wrappers worn, illus. (£6500); #57, The Marriage of Heaven and Hell, 1885, copy number 35, original wrappers worn, illus. (£2875); #58, Songs of Innocence, 1885, copy number 35, with Songs of Experience, 1885, copy number 50, 2 vols., 20th-century half morocco with original wrappers bound in, illus. (£6850); #59, Visions of the Daughters of Albion, 1885, copy number 34, 20th-century half morocco with original wrappers bound in, illus. (£2875); #60, There Is No Natural Religion, 1886, copy number 34, original wrappers worn, illus. (£1750).

W. Blake, The Poems, prefatory notice by Joseph Skipsey, 1885. EB, April, publisher’s faux-vellum boards, with a printed label pasted to the inside front cover reading “FROM THE LIBRARY OF / EDWARD BURNE-JONES / THE GRANGE NORTH / END ROAD FULHAM,” illus. (£54.53). The Victorian artist Edward Coley Burne-Jones (1833-98) knew the coal miner and poet Skipsey (1832-1903) and sponsored his selection in 1889 as custodian of Shakespeare’s house in Stratford-upon-Avon—see John Langton’s biography of Skipsey in ODNB.

W. Blake, Songs of Innocence, Frederick Hollyer facsimile, 1923. Lawrences auction, Crewkerne, 31 Jan., #2149, no. 7 of 50 copies, publisher’s “full seal-skin,” illus. (£250); same copy, Justin Schiller Books, April New York Antiquarian Book Fair ($3500); same copy and price, Battledore Books (Schiller's firm), Sept. online cat., illus.

Strand Magazine, vol. 82, July-Dec. 1931. M. G. Manwaring, April online cat., “hardcover” (£50). Joe McKernan, April online cat., cloth ($284). The Dec. issue, pp. 549-58, includes Winston Churchill, “Fifty Years Hence.” In the penultimate paragraph of the essay, he states that “the busy hands of the scientists are already fumbling with the keys of all the chambers hitherto forbidden to mankind. Without an equal growth of Mercy, Pity, Peace and Love, Science herself may destroy all that makes human life majestic and tolerable” (558). Churchill is borrowing from the opening lines of Blake’s “The Divine Image” in Songs of Innocence: “To Mercy Pity Peace and Love, / All pray in their distress” (E 12).

James Rimell & Son, 1933 cat. 288, Illustrated Catalogue of Rare Books. EB, Aug., replacement wrappers, illus. (acquired by Essick at the “buy it now” price of $26.25). Includes Hayley’s Designs to a Series of Ballads, 1802, ballads 1-2 only (#63, £21), the manuscript of Blake’s “A Fairy leapt upon my knee” (BB #37, transcribed as “A fairy skipd upon my knee” in E 481-82), with the pencil sketch of The Infant Hercules Throttling the Serpents (Butlin #253) on the verso, and with, on another leaf, the pencil sketch of Queen Katharine, Awakening from Her Dream, after Fuseli (Butlin #561), with Sketch for Jerusalem Plate 6: Los and His Spectre on the verso. The manuscript and the Queen Katharine drawing are offered together as #64 for £225; the manuscript and the sketch for Jerusalem pl. 6 are illus. Both leaves are now in the National Gallery of Art, Washington.

H. C. Whaite, wood engraving of Blake’s “Jerusalem” lyric from Milton, 1963(?). EB, Feb., illus. (£40 to Essick). See illus. 11.

Allen Ginsberg, autograph letter signed, 1 p., to “Mr. Simmons,” dated 7 Feb. [1970?], concerning Ginsberg’s recording of Blake’s Songs of Innocence and of Experience. RR online auction, 16 July, #719, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of $200).

Blake’s Circle and Followers

Works are listed under artists’ names in the following order: paintings and drawings sold in groups, single paintings and drawings, letters and manuscripts, separate plts., books by (or with plts. by) the artist.

BARRY, JAMES

“Eastern Patriarch,” lithograph, 1803. See Fuseli, “Evening Thou Bringest All.”

“Mercury Inventing the Lyre,” mezzotint by John Raphael Smith, 1775. Emanuel von Baeyer, March cat., #30, 2nd st., leaf 32.5 x 38.2 cm., illus. (price on request). Upon inquiry, John Windle was told that the price is £7500.

“Orpheus,” etching/engraving, 1792. Galerie Bassenge auction, Berlin, 29 May, #5274, 2nd st., illus. (£16,000; estimate £4500).

BASIRE, JAMES

“Sir George Savile Bar,” engraved by Benjamin Wilson and Basire after Wilson’s portrait, 1770. EB, Jan.-Feb., imprint trimmed off and trimmed close to the image on sides and top, wormhole lower right in the image, illus. (£8).

“South West View of the Steeple & Church of Louth,” 1774. John Taylors auction, Louth, Lincolnshire, 14 Oct., #582, badly stained, margins damaged, illus. (£65).
11. Blake’s “Jerusalem” lyric “From William Blake’s ‘Milton.’” Wood-engraved broadside, the text in white line, signed “H. C. Whaite” in the block lower right, signed “Henry Clarence Whaite” (British artist, 1895-1978) in pencil just above the bottom edge of the leaf (not shown) and dated ”1963”(?). Image 18.4 x 11.9 cm., leaf of laid paper 30.7 x 24.4 cm. Essick collection. In the 2nd line, “mountains” in Blake’s text has been changed (inadvertently?) to “mountain.” Whaite’s landscape may be a response to the last line in the poem and the command “O clouds unfold!” (E 95), transformed into a performative utterance in the design. The broken forms on the horizon recall the cromlechs pictured in Milton, pl. a. The vegetation leans sharply left, as though blown by a wind coming from the right. Might this be a meteorological metaphor for “mental fight”?

Cook, A Voyage to the Pacific Ocean, 1784 or 1785 ed. GP, Oct. online cat., 2 pls. by Basire after John Webber offered individually, “A Man of Prince William's Sound” (£120) and “A Woman of Prince William's Sound” (£220). Both portraits are repeated, much reduced, in Blake's pl. 2 for Fennine and Collyer, A New System of Geography, 1785-86.

Cook, A Voyage towards the South Pole, and round the World, 1777. EB, Jan., 1 pl. only, “The Landing at Mallicolet,” engraved by Basire after William Hodges, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £725 or “best offer”); same impression, July, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £575).

Eighty-Two Prints, Engraved by F. Bartolozzi, &c., from the Original Drawings of Guercino, in the Collection of His Majesty, published by Boydell, n.d. (c. 1764?). EB, Jan., 1 pl. only, an untitled landscape, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £47); Feb., 1 pl. only, another untitled landscape, badly foxed, frame damaged, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £449.99); June, 1 pl. only, “An Allegory of Time,” full leaf, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £189.90). GP, Sept. online cat., 2 pls. only, described as a “landscape with two figures conversing” (£190) and “landscape with man on right drawing a ruin” (£160), both illus.

Rogers, Collection of Prints in Imitation of Drawings, 1778. EB, Jan., 1 pl. only, “Sclirus Recomending Concord to His Sons” after Pietro da Cortona, pl. dated 1768, illus. (£52.13); another impression, April-May, framed, illus. (£105); June, 1 pl. only, “The Immaculate Virgin” after Carlo Maratti, pl. dated 1762, illus. (£380); June-July, 1 pl. only, “Moses Exposed” after Eustache Le Sueur, pl. dated 1765, water stained, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £30); same impression, Aug., illus. (£19); Dec., 1 pl. only, “Cupid with the Sword of Mars” after Agostino Carracci, pl. dated 1769, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £75); same impression, Dec., illus. (£75). BHL, 18 June, #31, 2 vols., 103 of 112 pls., some pls. loose, contemporary quarter morocco worn, 1 cover detached, illus. (£3750).

Watson, Memoirs of the Ancient Earls of Warren and Surrey, 1782. EB, Feb., 2 vols., contemporary calf, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £450 or “best offer”). Includes 31 pls. signed by Basire. All bear imprints dated 1785, but the portrait frontispiece in vol. 1 is inscribed “1780” following Basire’s name. One or 2 of the unsigned full-page pls., as well as the many small engraved vignettes printed on text pages, may also have been produced in Basire’s shop.

CALVERT, EDWARD

Rural Idyll. Oil, 21.5 x 39.8 cm., datable to c. 1872. Sophie Schneiderman Rare Books, Nov. online “William Blake & His Followers” cat., no entry #, illus. (£15,000). Previously offered Fine Art Society, May-June 2012 “Samuel Palmer [and] His Friends and His Followers” cat., #18, illus. ("sold").

S. Calvert, Memoir of Edward Calvert, 1893. CNY, 19 June, #144, no. 73 of 350 copies, publisher's cloth, from the collection of Arthur and Charlotte Vershbow, illus. ($10,000; estimate $4000-6000). Includes original impressions of 2 intaglio engravings and 6 wood engravings by E. Calvert.

FLAXMAN, JOHN

See also Flaxman under Letterpress Books with Engravings by and after Blake, above.

Thirty-five pen and ink drawings, based on Flaxman’s Dante designs, attributed to Thomas Piroli and thus possibly part of the production of Flaxman’s Dante engraved by Piroli in 1793 and on different copperplates in 1802. All approximately 15.0 x 19.0 cm. with inscriptions in Italian. CSK, 4 Sept., framed, offered in 4 lots, illus.: #18, 8 drawings (not sold; estimate £800-1000); #19, 8 drawings (not sold; estimate £800-1000); #20, 9 drawings (not sold; estimate £800-1200); #21, 10 drawings (£750).

Three drawings for the Acts of Mercy: Instruct the Ignorant (22.0 x 32.5 cm.), Visit the Sick (19.5 x 37.2 cm.), and Comfort the Fatherless and Widow (22.0 x 38.5 cm.). Pen and ink, wash, over pencil. BHL, 29 Oct., #291, “with a small preliminary sketch for Instruct the ignorant; and three etchings with aquatint of the Acts of Mercy by F. C. Lewis, proofs before titles,” all 3 wash drawings illus. (£9000). Previously sold SL, 16 Jan. 1958, #212 (£20 to Irwin). The Lewis aquatints were published in 1831.
Two pen and ink drawings for the Odyssey, attributed to Flaxman, each approximately 16.5 x 50.8 cm. GO, 27 March, #1415, with inscriptions on the mounts for each drawing and “with a letter of provenance and promissory note from the proprietors of Covent Garden Theatre for payment of £105 as the balance due for the statue of Thalia in front of the theatre dated 1812 and signed by the architect, Robert Smirke,” illus. (£300). The drawings are variants of the published engravings titled “Ulysses at the Table of Circe” and “Mercury Conducting the Souls of the Suitors to the Infernal Regions” in the 1805 ed., pls. 16 and 33 (untitled pls. 12 and 28 in the 1793 ed.). David Bindman and I are not convinced by the attribution to the drawings to Flaxman. The additional motifs in both drawings, not present in the engravings, seem awkward and uncharacteristic of his work. The statue of Thalia, the muse of comedy, is now lost; see David Irwin, John Flaxman 1755-1826 (London: Studio Vista, 1979) 172, 230n6.

The Adoration of the Magi. Marble relief plaque, 33.8 x 43.0 cm., datable to c. 1792-94. LL, Jan. cat., pp. 38-45, illus. (not priced). For information on this important work, see David Bindman, “John Flaxman’s ‘Adoration of the Magi’ Rediscovered,” Apollo 162 (Dec. 2005): 40-44.

Amphinon and Zethus Delivering Their Mother Antiope from the Fury of Dirce and Lycus. Pencil, pen and ink, wash, 16.1 x 29.2 cm., signed “Flaxman, Roma, 1789” LL, Oct. online cat., illus. (not priced; sold to the Chicago Art Institute). Previously offered by LL, Jan. 2013 cat. of “British Paintings & Works on Paper,” pp. 41-[43], illus. (not priced).

Man Wrapped in Thought. Pencil, 19.7 x 13.3 cm., datable to c. 1790. AH, Feb. online cat. 433, #19, illus. (£2500); Dec. Pictures for Christmas online cat., illus., same price.

Study for the Shield of Achilles. Pencil, pen and ink, 10.5 x 17.8 cm., datable to c. 1810. Given Jan. 2014 by Tomasso Brothers, the British art dealer, to the Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens, San Marino, California, accession no. 2014.3.

Autograph manuscript signed. 2 pp. on a single leaf, apparently part of a lecture on church art and architecture. EB, April, illus. (£180.09).

FUSELI, HENRY

Double-Sided Sheet Depicting Studies of a Male Nude. Pen and ink over pencil, 22.2 x 17.5 cm., datable to c. 1777-79. SL, 5 March, #259, illus. (£12,500; estimate £3000-5000). Previously sold CL, 24 March 1981, #30, illus. (£4500); previously offered SL, 6 June 2007, #186, illus. (not sold; estimate £7000-10,000).

The Fireplace. Pencil and wash, 36.8 x 23.2 cm., signed “Oct [1798]” CL, 10 July, #186, from the Brinsley Ford collection, illus. (not sold; highest bid £42,000 on an estimate of £50,000-80,000).

Portrait of the Artist’s Wife. Watercolor, 17.2 x 17.4 cm. CL, 10 July, #185, from the Brinsley Ford collection, illus. (£122,500; estimate £30,000-50,000). Previously sold SL, 2 Aug. 1944, #26 (£40.10s.).

Salome with the Head of Saint John the Baptist. Oil, 127.0 x 102.4 cm. CL, 3 Dec., #155, illus. (£176,500; estimate £8000-12,000). Apparently repaired in recent years, but still showing considerable surface cracking.

Standing Figure of a Man in Profile. Pen and ink, wash over pencil, 26.8 x 19.4 cm. SL, 9 July, #180, illus. (£98,500). Previously sold CL, 6 March 1973, #19 (£433.4S. to William Darby); offered SL, 10 March 1988, #32, illus. (not sold; estimate £20,000-30,000). For illus., see Blake 23.1 (summer 1989): 15.

Study of a Woman in Chains, with a Phantom Descending from Above, recto and verso. Pen and brown ink, pencil (recto), pencil only (verso), 48.2 x 28.2 cm. SL, 9 July, #214, recto and verso illus. (not sold; highest bid £20,000 on an estimate of £25,000-40,000). Previously sold CL, 19 Nov. 1985, #32a, recto illus. (£16,200).
Study of the Head of a Woman, Possibly Magdalena Hess, Wearing a Head-Dress. Pencil and red chalk, 34.2 x 22.8 cm., datable to 1802. SNY, 30 Jan., #58, illus. (not sold; estimate $15,000-20,000).

The Three Witches, or the Weird Sisters. Oil, 60.3 x 75.5 cm., datable to c. 1783-85. Jean-Luc Baroni, spring cat., #15, illus. (not priced; acquired June by the Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens, San Marino, California). Previously sold SL, 14 July 1976, #120 (no price information), CL, 4 May 1995, #51, illus. (£221,500), and CNY, 24 Jan. 2003, #135, illus. ($361,500). See illus. 12.

12. Henry Fuseli. The Three Witches, or the Weird Sisters. Oil, 60.3 x 75.5 cm., datable to c. 1783-85. Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens, San Marino, California, accession no. 2014.15; reproduced by permission. This is probably the earliest version of this famous design. The more finished oil in the Kunsthais, Zurich, was the basis for John Raphael Smith’s mezzotint, published March 1785, and the 1786 stipple pl. by Peltro William Tomkins. The painting at the Royal Shakespeare Company, Stratford-upon-Avon, and another formerly in the Kirchheimer-Bollag Gallery, Zurich, have generally been attributed to Fuseli; the versions in the North Carolina Museum of Art, Raleigh, and the Auckland Art Gallery, New Zealand, may be copies by other hands.

The subject is taken from the exchange among Banquo, Macbeth, and the witches in Shakespeare's Macbeth, act 1, scene 3. Fuseli captures Banquo’s description of the witches, each with her "choppy finger laying / Upon her skinny lips.” The arrangement of the “withered” hags, each of the first 2 on the right partly superimposed over her companion to the left, has classical and Renaissance precedents, but Fuseli’s use of this format may have influenced the way Blake represents Job’s three friends in his illus. to the book of Job, beginning with the wash drawing of c. 1785 (Butlin #162 recto) and continuing through the engraved series published in 1826. Or might the influence be in the other direction? Fuseli famously declared that “Blake is damned good to steal from” (BR[2] 55). When Blake etched the three accusers of Socrates on Jerusalem pl. 93, he overlapped them and configured their pointing hands and fingers in a manner similar to Fuseli’s witches.

According to the 2014 Jean-Luc Baroni cat. offering the Huntington Three Witches for sale, p. 54, the painting is “inscribed in Greek on the reverse of the relining canvas, probably a transcription of a now hidden text on the back of the original support: These are Women but I call them Gorgons (translation from Aeschylus's Eumenides).” This inscription is repeated on the early, perhaps original, frame shown here. If indeed the canvas on which the painting was executed contained the same lettering, it may have been written by Fuseli as a classical antecedent to another of Banquo’s descriptions of the witches: “You should be women, / And yet your beards forbid me to interpret / That you are so.” There are no clear indications of facial hair in the Huntington painting, but tufts of hair on the chins, and at least slight indications of mustaches, are displayed by all three witches in the Kunsthau example and Smith’s mezzotint. Both include a death’s-head hawkmoth, also absent from the Huntington version, left of the witches.

Tomkins’s pl. includes the moth, but chin whiskers are given only to the witch furthest left.

“Beatrice Listening to Hero & Ursula” (inscribed title), mezzotint by John Jones, 1791 (Weinglass #113, titled “Beatrice Eavesdropping on Hero & Ursula”). Border auction, Hawick, Scottish Borders, 8 Feb., #278, framed, illus. (a bargain at £10).

“The Dream,” stipple engraving by Robert William Sievier of a miniature by Moses Haughton based on a painting by Fuseli, 1820 (Weinglass #297). EB, July, color-printed proof before signatures and imprint but with the title and quoted verses in English and French, foxed, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £350).

LINNELL, JOHN (excluding most portraits)

Apple Gatherers, attributed to Linnell. Oil, 76.2 x 101.6 cm. Duke’s auction, Dorchester, 10 April, #171, illus. (£1400). Possibly by one of Linnell’s sons.

Barges on the Thames. Pencil, 33.0 x 23.5 cm., inscribed “Thames Somerset H. in distance,” signed and dated 1807. EB, Jan., illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of $1850);

Feb., illus., same price; March-April, illus. (price lowered to $1650); July and again in Sept., illus. (price lowered to $1450).

A Boatyard by the Thames, London. Black and white chalk on blue paper, 16.2 x 24.1 cm., dated to c. 1805-09, signed. Guy Peppiatt Fine Art/Stephen Ongpin Fine Art, One Hundred Drawings and Watercolours, winter 2013-14, #20b, illus. (£1500).

Drover and Cattle. Oil, 35.6 x 45.7 cm., signed. EB, May-June, illus. (£920).

Farmyard Scene. Oil, 36.0 x 46.0 cm., signed indistinctly “J Linnell / 18 ...” BHL, 9 Sept., #28, illus. (not sold; highest bid £1100 on an estimate of £1200-1800). BHO, 3 Dec., #362, illus. (£875).

Harvesters, North Wales. Watercolor, 23.7 x 36.5 cm., signed and dated 1813. LL, Oct. cat. of British Watercolours, #37, illus. (£6000).

Job’s Sacrifice. Watercolor copy, 12.5 x 9.3 cm., of the pl. numbered 18 from Blake’s Job engravings. Crow’s auction, Dorking, 5 June, #943, illus. (£1100; estimate £120-180). The auction house, as well as a label by the Martyn Gregory Gallery on the back of the frame, attributes this work to John Linnell. The label also states that it is from the collection of “James Linnell, by descent to Mrs. Bollard, great grand—daughter of the artist.” Given the crudity of the drawing, I suspect that it is by James Linnell when young. Included in Martyn Gregory exhibition cat. #31, John Linnell: Truth to Nature (A Centennial Exhibition), 8–20 Nov. 1982, #106, the illus. with right and left reversed. The entry in this cat. states that “it is possible that this drawing was worked on by one of the Linnell sons in 1842 though the refined quality of the outline also suggests the hand of John Linnell (Senior).” Differences between Blake's design in the Linnell set of Job watercolors (Butlin #551.18) and the engraving indicate that this copy was based on the latter.

The Piper. Oil, 72.4 x 174.0 cm., signed with initials and dated 1872. Cowan's auction, Cincinnati, 11 Oct., #924, illus. ($960). Compositionally similar to, but larger than, Linnell's Piping down the Valleys Wild, last sold CSK, 20 March 2012, #591, illus. (£1500).

Portrait of a Gentleman—Believed to Be a Self-Portrait. Watercolor, 21.0 x 16.0 cm., signed and dated 1832. BHO, 12 Aug., #322, with Studies of Cows, chalk, 15.0 x 26.0 cm., Studies of Cows illus. (£275).

The Shepherd at Dusk. Oil, 40.6 x 50.8 cm., signed and datable to c. 1855. AH, March online cat. 434, #17, illus. (£3750). Previously sold as Figure by a Stream at Dusk, Woolley & Wallis auction, Salisbury, 4 Dec. 2013, #82, illus. (£1400).

Sir William Charles Ross. Two pencil portrait studies on 1 leaf, 21.0 x 11.5 cm., signed and inscribed “Wm Ross when student at R.A / c. 1810.” AH, Feb. online cat. of Heads: Selected Portraits 1500-2010, #46, illus. (£775).

Study for The Flight into Egypt. Oil on paper, 27.0 x 40.7 cm. LL, Oct. cat. of British Watercolours, #38, illus. (£4200).

Linnell exhibited a finished painting of the design at the British Institution in 1841; he painted another version in 1849. This oil sketch may be preparatory for either.

Sunset at Southampton. Watercolor, 17.0 x 28.0 cm., signed and dated 1819. SL, 22 May, #103, illus. (£3375). Previously offered LL, fall 2004 exhibition, illus. online (price on request).

Trees in a Landscape. Watercolor, 10.2 x 14.3 cm., signed with initials and dated “[18]16.” Guy Peppiatt, May cat., #21, illus. (£3950).

View at Hampstead. Watercolor, 16.0 x 23.5 cm., signed, datable to the 1820s. LL, Oct. cat. of British Watercolours, #36, illus. (£6000).

View of a Country House, attributed to Linnell. Watercolor, 10.0 x 17.0 cm. CF, 18 Sept., #581, illus. (not sold; highest bid £240 on an estimate of £300-500). A very early work, if indeed by Linnell.

MORTIMER, JOHN HAMILTON

Continental Soldiers, tentatively attributed to Mortimer. Watercolor, 33.0 x 38.1 cm. Burstow & Hewett auction, Battle, East Sussex, 25 June, #182, stained and framed, illus. (£130).

Fishermen Drawing In Their Nets. Pencil, pen and black ink, 36.2 x 41.9 cm., datable to 1774. LL, Oct. online cat., illus. (not priced; sold to the Chicago Art Institute). Previously offered by LL, Jan. 2012 cat., p. 54, illus. (price on request). Previously sold CL, 5 July 2011, #112, illus. (£8750). The etching by Robert Blyth is inscribed “Drawn by J. Mortimer, 1774” and “Published … Nov. 9th 1780.”

Sketch for Three Soldiers in Armor Sitting on Stone Blocks. Pen and brown ink, leaf 17.5 x 13.0 cm. William J. Jenack auction, Chester, New York, 16 Feb., #35, illus. (not sold;

Study of a Recumbent Child. Pen and ink, wash, 10.5 x 17.3 cm., signed and dated March 1768. Pro Auction, Bath, 22 April, #45, illus. (£210). Previously offered Pro Auction, online auction closing 14 June 2013, #79D, illus. (not sold; no estimate), and EB, Oct. 2007, titled Sleeping Baby, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of $450).

PALMER, SAMUEL

Elements of Form; Together with an Outline, and, Indirectly, on the Picturesque. A pair in pencil extensively inscribed, each leaf 19.3 x 30.0 cm., datable to c. 1863. SL, 6 March, #769, housed in a modern box with the bookplate of Raymond Lister, illus. (£1625). Previously sold SL, 26 Feb. 1976, #108 (£40 to Lister).

Illustration to Milton’s “Lycidas.” Watercolor and body color, 10.4 x 15.1 cm., datable to c. 1873, signed. SL, 9 July, #199, illus. (£25,000). Previously sold CL, 9 Nov. 1976, #131, titled The Evening Ploughman (£1700).

Landscape—Twilight. Oil and tempera, 26.5 x 38.0 cm., probably the work exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1834. LL, Sept. private offer (£3,200,000); Dec., online cat., illus. (not priced). Previously offered SL, 12 Nov. 1997, #102, illus. (not sold; estimate £300,000-400,000). For illus., see Blake 31.4 (spring 1998): 133 and illus. 17.

A Rocky Shore with Distant Sailing Boats. Watercolor and gouache, 28.6 x 40.6 cm., datable to c. 1849. LL, Jan. cat., pp. 76-77, illus. (not priced; sold by Oct. to a “private collection, USA”).

The Sleeping Shepherd. Tempera and oil, 39.4 x 51.8 cm., datable to 1833-34. CL, 8 July, #65, illus. (not sold; estimate £800,000-1,200,000). Previously offered CNY, 27 Jan. 2010, #57, illus. (not sold; estimate £2,500,000-3,500,000). An important work, painted near the end of Palmer’s Shoreham period. Its failure to find a new owner at 2 recent auctions may be due to the absence of the intensity and primitivism central to Palmer’s greatest Shoreham works. The view that The Sleeping Shepherd is a more controlled and accomplished work, from a conventional 19th-century perspective, lessens its marketability.

View on the Devon Coast. Watercolor, body color, and black chalk, 18.7 x 26.9 cm., datable to c. 1849. Guy Peppiatt, May cat., #20, illus. (£65,000). Previously sold as The North Devon Coast, SL, 3 July 2013, #205, illus. (£23,750).

The Waterfall at Pistil Mawddach, Near Dolgetty, North Wales. Watercolor, 47.0 x 37.2 cm., datable to 1835. SNY, 29 Jan., #132, illus. (not sold; estimate £50,000-70,000). Previously sold from the collection of Bryan Westwood, SL, 12 July 1967, #228 (£1300 to Agnew’s).

“The Skylark,” etching. CF, 16 Oct., #208, 7th st. on laid India, illus. (£600).

“The Sleeping Shepherd,” etching. Roseberys auction, West Norwood, London, 18 March, #1684, st. not indicated but probably 3rd, after the pl. was cut down but before signature and number, illus. (£6500; estimate £500-700). CF, 16 Oct., #209, 4th st. on laid India, illus. (£2000; estimate £400-600).

Etchings for the Art-Union of London, 1872. BL, 24 July, #284, some spotting and browning, original cloth very worn, some pls. loose, illus. (not sold; estimate £500-700). Includes Palmer’s etching “The Morning of Life,” 7th st.

PARKER, JAMES

See “Fair Fatima” under Stothard, below.

RICHMOND, GEORGE (excluding most portraits)

A sketchbook, dated 1881-84. BL, 24 July, #37, “numerous single-page and a few double-page sketches in pencil,” mostly landscapes, contemporary cloth, modern box, from the collection of Raymond Lister, illus. (£682).

Classical Head Study. Pen and brown ink, 8.5 x 7.5 cm. BL, 24 July, #35, illus. (£149).
Figure Studies. Pencil, pen and ink, 17.8 x 25.4 cm. AH, Dec. Pictures for Christmas No. 2 online cat., #62, illus. (£125).

Girl Bathing. Black, white, and red chalk, verso sketch of a female torso, 41.0 x 28.9 cm., initialed and dated 1879. EB, Dec. 2013, illus. (offered at the “buy it now” price of £2000). The drawing may be earlier than the inscribed date.

Study of a Cedar Tree. Watercolor, 30.5 x 24.5 cm. SL, 22 May, #117, illus. (£6250; estimate £2000-3000).

Study of a Female Nude for Comus. Black and white chalk, 54.0 x 38.0 cm., datable to c. 1837. 25 Blythe Road auction, London, 10 Dec. 2013, #30, illus. (£520).

Study of a Nude Male Figure. Watercolor, 19.0 x 10.2 cm., signed with initials and inscribed “Septr / 16th / 1829.” Guy Peppiatt, May cat., #19, illus. (£1800). Previously offered Agnew’s, Oct.-Nov. 2001 cat., Missing Pages: George Richmond, #12, illus. (£1500).

Study of Comus Carrying His Cup (recto), Falling Figures (verso). Pen and ink, 33.0 x 21.2 cm., inscribed in pencil “Comus” and “Paris 1829 a 30”; inscribed on verso “1828.” BHNY, 5 Nov., #63, illus. (£2500). Previously sold SL, 18 Nov. 1976, #176 (£360). Richmond’s pencil inscriptions are later, but the drawing on the recto was very probably executed c. 1828-30.

Study of the Artist’s Infant Son, T. R. Richmond. Pencil, 13.5 x 8.5 cm., datable to c. 1834. BL, 24 July, #36, from the collection of Raymond Lister, illus. (£186).

ROMNEY, GEORGE (excluding most portraits)

Cupid and Psyche. Pen and ink, brown wash, 37.7 x 27.7 cm. Guy Peppiatt, May cat., #2, illus. (£8000).

Four Studies of a Woman. Pen and ink, 11.1 x 18.3 cm. Guy Peppiatt, May cat., #3, possibly studies for Miranda in Romney’s painting of The Tempest, illus. (£3500). Previously sold Duke’s auction, Dorchester, 11 April 2013, #50, framed, illus. (£750).

Study of a Figure Tied to a Tree. Pencil, 35.8 x 23.0 cm. BHO, 10 Sept., #257, illus. (£562). AH, Nov. online cat. 442, #45, titled Study, Possibly of Marsyas, illus. (£1100).

Study of a Mother and Child. Pencil and brown wash, 18.4 x 13.0 cm., datable to the 1770s. SL, 9 July, #183, illus. (£9375). Previously sold CL, 9 Nov. 1993, #13 (£690).

Study of Figures Arranged in Friezes. Pen and brown ink and wash, faint black chalk sketches on the verso, 10.6 x 18.7 cm., datable to c. 1776-77. Acquired in 2012 by the Carnegie Museum of Art, Pittsburgh, from LL.

Study of Mrs. James Harris, Later Countess of Malmesbury. Pen and brown ink, 8.7 x 7.6 cm. SL, 9 July, #182, illus. (£2750; estimate £600-800).

Two Reclining Figures. Pen and ink, 19.0 x 16.0 cm. CF, 15 May, #409, illus. (£200). Odd title; there are 4 figures and only 1 reclines.

SHERMAN, WELBY

See “The Bacchante” under Calvert, above.

STOTHARD, THOMAS

An album of 14 designs for the monuments of the Duke of Wellington, Sir William Myers, and others. Pencil, pen and ink, brown washes. Sworders auction, Stansted Mountfitchet, Essex, 3 June, #251, “various sizes … foxing and staining throughout,” illus. (£800).

Amazons Rescuing Their Queen(?). Sepia wash drawing, 10.2 x 15.2 cm. AH, Dec. online cat. 443, #46, illus. (£400).

Designs for Thomas Townshend, Poems, 1796. Two monochrome wash drawings, both 9.0 x 9.0 cm. BL, 24 July, #22, with a drawing attributed to Henry Tresham, illus. (£211). Only 1 of the Stothard drawings was published in the book, p. 67, engraved by Andrew Birrell. The other design may be a variant for the illus. on p. [65].

Farm Dog Chasing a Wolf. Monochrome wash, 9.5 x 9.0 cm. BL, 24 July, #23, with Resting Lion with a Pony, monochrome wash, 9.5 x 9.0 cm., both drawings illus. (not sold; estimate £200-300). Dreweatts auction, Bristol, 11 Dec., #76, both drawings offered, both illus. (£45).

In the Forest of Arden, from As You Like It. Oil, 38.1 x 30.5 cm. AH, July online cat. 438, #18, fine gilt frame, illus. (£3000).

On the Way to Market, an Illustration to Oliver Goldsmith’s The Deserted Village. Watercolor, 13.0 x 9.0 cm. Holloway’s auction, Banbury, 2 Dec., #358, illus. (£190). See Blake 47.4
13. Thomas Stothard. The Pilgrimage to Canterbury. Watercolor on Whatman paper with an 1833 watermark, 9.9 x 34.4 cm. The date of the paper, only 1 year before Stothard’s death, makes one suspicious that this is a very skilled copy of the much larger pl. of the same design published in 1817 or the small pl. (4.9 x 17.4 cm.) engraved by W. H. Worthington in 1822. The differences between the engravings and the watercolor are very slight—for example, a variant arrangement of the clouds, particularly on the right, and the diminution of the shadows cast by the horses on the right. There is, however, nothing in the execution of this watercolor to indicate any hand other than Stothard’s. Its unfinished coloring might be explained by Stothard’s being hit by a carriage and incapacitated in fall 1833 (see M. G. Sullivan’s biography of Stothard in ODNB). Photo courtesy of Lowell Libson.

(spring 2014) for further information and earlier attempts to sell.

Othello and Desdemona, attributed to Stothard. Oil, 25.2 x 35.3 cm. BHO, 3 Dec., #467, illus. (not sold; estimate £1000-1500).

The Pilgrimage to Canterbury. Watercolor, 9.9 x 34.4 cm. LL, Jan. cat., pp. 86-87, same design as Stothard’s oil painting of 1806-07, with an impression on laid India of the pl. etched and engraved by Louis Schiavonetti and James Heath, 1817, both illus. (not priced). The watercolor previously sold CL, 18 June 1980, #108, illus. in black and white (£950), CSK, 9 July 2009, #630, illus. (£5000), and CSK, 21 Feb. 2012, #248, illus. (£4000); previously offered by Justin Croft, Oct. 2012 cat. 7, #12, illus. (£8000). The LL cat. claims that “Blake’s plate [Chaucers Canterbury Pilgrims] was in fact a blatant plagiarism of Thomas Stothard’s work” (86). See illus. 13.

Portrait of Mrs. Stothard, attributed to Stothard. Pencil, 17.5 x 20.5 cm. Humbert auction, Towcester, Northamptonshire, 23 Oct., #1183, illus. (not sold; estimate £100-150); 20 Nov., #1131, illus. (no price information; estimate £100-120). Well done; the attribution may indeed be correct.

Three Figures at a Cottage Door. Pen and ink and gray wash, 8.0 x 5.5 cm. Holloway’s auction, Banbury, 2 Dec., #293, with 2 other monochrome wash drawings attributed to Stothard and an unattributed watercolor, illus. (£180).

Venus and Cupid. Pencil, pen and ink, wash, 8.9 x 8.3 cm. AH, June online cat. 437, #47, illus. (£375).

“Fair Fatima” (presumed title). A circular pl. engraved by James Parker after Stothard illustrating a passage in one of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu’s published letters. EB, Oct.-Nov., proof with signatures but before title and imprint, printed in sanguine on a leaf of wove paper 30.5 x 24.8 cm., illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £9.99). I have never seen an impression with title and/or imprint. The British Museum example (registration no. 1896,0511.417) is printed in black. See also “Jolie Fatime,” Zancon after Stothard, 2012 sales review, Blake 46.4 (spring 2013). Not in Coxhead or Bennett.

“The Landlord’s Family” and “The Tenant’s Family,” a pair engraved by Charles Knight, 1792. EB, July, color printed and framed, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £1500); same impressions, July, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of £1000). Not in Coxhead or Bennett.

“The Lost Apple,” lithograph, 1803. GP, Dec. online cat., with the original aquatint border, illus. (£520). See also Fuseli, “Evening Thou Bringest All.” which explains its clarity,” illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of €150); same impression, June, illus. (no bids on a required minimum bid of €50). Not in Coxhead or Bennett.

“Sailors in a Storm,” mezzotint by William Ward, 58.0 x 47.0 cm., 1798. EB, April-May, “clean burning” in 1990.

Illustrations of Shakspeare, Being a Selection of Scenes ... from Designs by Stothard & Smirke. London: C. Taylor, n.d. PBA, 10 April, #638, scattered foxing, publisher’s(?) cloth, illus. (no bids on an estimate of $500-800). The only copy I have ever encountered; not in Coxhead or Bennett. WorldCat lists only the copy at the Yale Center for British Art. Apparently another, possibly later, issue of the pls. 1st published in C. Taylor, Picturesque Beauties of Shakspeare (see below). Some of the lettering on some pls. has been strengthened in this issue.

A Selection of Irish Melodies, with Symphonies and Accompaniments by Sir John Stevenson ... and Characteristic Words by Thomas Moore. Seventh number. Dublin: W. Power, n.d. (c. 1820?). EB, Jan.-Feb., publisher’s printed boards, top of spine damaged, illus. ($35). The title-page vignette, engraved by John Martyn after Stothard, is listed in Coxhead 165 as published in A Selection of Popular Traditional [sic] Airs, 1818-26 (the correct title is A Selection of Popular National Airs, as in Bennett 81).

C. Taylor, Picturesque Beauties of Shakespeare, n.d. (pls. dated 1783-87 in their imprints). PBA, 13 March, #331, complete with 40 pls. including 7 after Stothard, 32 after Robert Smirke, and 1 after Charles Reuben Ryley, scattered foxing, modern calf, illus. ($270). Originally issued in 10 parts, each with 4 pp. of letterpress text of selected passages from a single play and 4 engraved illus. Apparently rare; only the 2nd copy I have ever seen on the market. See also Illustrations of Shakspeare, above. Coxhead 95, Bennett 67.

Appendix: New Information on Blake's Engravings

The Separate Plates of William Blake: A Catalogue

P. 67, “Chaucers Canterbury Pilgrims,” impression 3Y. Acquired at auction in 1949 by Brandon Meredith Rhys-Williams (1927-88), Agnew’s acting as agent; inherited by a member of his family, present whereabouts unknown.

Pp. 125-29, “Morning Amusement,” and pp. 130-31, “Evening Amusement,” both after Watteau. For previously unrecorded impressions, trimmed to ovals slightly within the images, see under Separate Plates and Plates in Series, above.

Pp. 150-57, “Rev. John Caspar Lavater.” An impression of the 3rd st. was acquired by the National Portrait Gallery, London, in 1951, accession no. NPG D37198. Wove paper, leaf 41.6 x 28.6 cm., trimmed within the platemark right and left.

Pp. 170-72, “Head of a Damned Soul in Dante’s Inferno,” after Fuseli. Blake’s engraving is probably based, either directly or through an intermediate drawing, on Fuseli’s oil painting now in the Art Institute of Chicago. See the detailed entry and illus. in French and British Paintings from 1600 to 1800 in the Art Institute of Chicago, French entries by Susan Wise, British entries by Malcolm Warner (Chicago: Art Institute of Chicago, 1996) 226-32. The oil painting of the head offered at Sotheby’s Parke Bernet, London, 4 Oct. 1978, #304 (not sold and now untraced) may be a copy after Blake’s print.

Pp. 189-90, “Rev. Robert Hawker,” after Ponsford. An impression in the only known st. was acquired by the National Portrait Gallery, London, in 1966, accession no. NPG Wove paper trimmed within the platemark to 42.4 x 30.1 cm.

William Blake’s Commercial Book Illustrations

Pp. 39-40, Daniel Fenning and Joseph Collyer, A New System of Geography, 2 vols., 1785-86, 1787, pl. 2. A previously unrecorded 3rd st. of this pl. appears in John Payne, Universal Geography Formed into a New and Entire System, 2 vols. (London: J. Johnson and C. Stalker, 1791), vol. 1 facing p. 583. The volume and page references top right, present in both earlier sts., have been retained since Payne’s text is simply a reprint of the Fenning and Collyer text with identical pagination. The inscription top center has been replaced with “Engraved for PAYNE’s Universal Geography.” The number bottom right has been erased; the imprint has been replaced with “Publish’d March 1st, 1791 by C. Stalker. Stationers Court.” The design, the inscriptions within it, and Blake’s signature lower right remain unaltered. Copies of Payne’s Universal Geography are in the University of Edinburgh Library and the British Library; the latter is reproduced, complete, in Eighteenth Century Collections Online. An impression of the pl. in the 3rd st. is in the National Gallery of Australia; see <http://artsearch.nga.gov.au/Detail.cfm?IRN=213916&PICTAUS=TRUE>. For a re-engraving of the design, see Payne, Universal Geography, 1794, under Interesting Blakeana, above. See also Cook, A Voyage to the Pacific Ocean, under Basire, James, above.

P. 61, James Earle, Practical Observations on the Operation for the Stone, 1793, 1796, 1803. I claim that the attribution to Blake of pl. 3, included in an Appendix 1st published in 1796, depends in large measure on the inscriptions added to the 2nd st. Unfortunately, I was able to obtain an adequate photograph only of the 1st st., reproduced as fig. 124. The crucial 2nd st. is reproduced here, illus. 5.

Pp. 71-75, John Gabriel Stedman, Narrative, of a Five Years’ Expedition, against the Revolted Negroes of Surinam, 2 vols., 1796, 1806, 1813. The vignette on the copperplate used for both title pages can be attributed to Blake on the basis of a heretofore unnoticed signature. For illus. and information on sts. and printsings, see illus. 6-10 and their captions.