CORRECTION

In n5 of "Cromek's Lost Letter about Blake's Grave Designs" (Blake 27 [1993]: 160) G. E. Bentley, Jr. directs readers to my article "'S' Joshua and His Gang': William Blake and the Royal Academy," Huntington Library Quarterly 52 (1989): 75-95. However, in that article I hardly mentioned Cromek at all. What Bentley really meant was my article "Canterbury Revisited: The Blake-Cromek Controversy" (Blake 23 [1988/89]: 80-92). (Aileen Ward)

ROMANTICISM

"Romanticism is the new journal of Romantic culture and criticism. . . . Romanticism offers a much-needed forum for the flourishing diversity of Romantic studies today. Focusing on the period 1750-1850, the journal publishes critical, historical, textual and bibliographic essays and notes prepared to the highest scholarly standards reflecting the full range of current methodological and theoretical debate. Literary studies of all kinds are represented [as well as] interdisciplinary and comparative approaches to Romantic culture." A John Keats bicentenary issue is planned for 1995.
